Keeping all your documentation and records in one place is a smart idea- you'll know exactly where to go to retrieve them if you need to references them. Beyond just your paper records in a file folder, you might want to keep documents and images of your equipment in Farmbrite - not only will they be easy to locate, but they'll act as a backup in case you misplace your physical copies as well.

To upload images and files for your equipment, navigate to Resources in the main menu, choose Equipment, and then select the equipment you want to work with. You'll see choices for Images and Files in the menu.

The screenshot shows the Farmbrite web application interface. At the top left is the Farmbrite logo. To its right is a search bar with the text "Search...". Further right are buttons for "Quick Add", "Account", "Chris", and "Help". Below the logo is a vertical sidebar menu with items: Schedule, Tasks, Livestock, Crops, Resources (expanded), Equipment (highlighted), Warehouses, Inventory, Accounting, Market, Contacts, Farm Map, and Reports. The main content area features a "New Equipment" button with a plus icon and a "Search Equipment" search bar. Below these is a table with columns: Name, Type, Brand, Model, Last Service, and an action column with a red 'x' icon. The table contains four rows of equipment data. Below the table, there is a status bar that says "Displaying all 4 Equipment" and a "Download all Equipment" button with a download icon.

You will find the process for storing files very similar. From your equipment menu, you'll choose Files and see a familiar screen, this time with a button labeled Upload File. You'll browse your computers files, and upload the one you'd like to store with this equipment in Farmbrite. You might store a scan of the receipt from when you purchased the equipment or performed maintenance in PDF format, or other documents that you'd like to retain. You can upload Microsoft Excel , and Microsoft Word files (.xls & .xlsx, doc & .docx,), PDFs, or text documents (.txt).
