How do I see the Yield Rate of my animals in Farmbrite

If your animals produce a yield like eggs or milk you may want to track these numbers. You may also want to calculate the average of these numbers. For instance, you may want to find the lay rate for your chickens. This can be calculated in Farmbrite.

Go to the Livestock tab in Farmbrite

Go to the Animals tab

Select your specific animal or group of animals

Click on Yield

Create a new yield record by clicking on the green " New Record" Button.

After you have entered a few records here you will start to see charts and graphs with your data. You will also see the average yield rate of this animal.
